

NUS Centre for Language Studies (CLS) Placement Tests in Semester 1, AY2021/2022 for Yale-NUS Students

Placement tests are for students who do not meet the pre-requisites of advanced level NUS CLS modules.

I. NUS CLS Placement Tests

Students who are taking placement tests are to follow up with NUS CLS directly. Information on modules offered, NUS CLS coordinators and placement tests dates, will be published on the NUS CLS website. You will be notified of the outcome of the placement tests by NUS CLS. Thereafter, you can proceed to register for the module via ModReg@EduRec during the module registration rounds.

II. Important Notes for Students

1. If you have no prior knowledge of the language that you are interested to study, you do not need to sit for any placement tests. Please register for the beginning level NUS CLS module(s) via Qualtrics (link active only in Round 0) in Round 0. Do note that you will only be pre-allocated to the lecture section of the CLS module.
2. If enrolment in the NUS CLS module leads to an overload, you will not be pre-allocated to the module. Instead, you may drop an allocated module and register for the NUS CLS module via ModReg@EduRec during Round 1 or in subsequent rounds. If you decide to overload with a language module, please indicate clearly in the overload form, the specific language module code and title. Once you have obtained approval from your Assistant Dean to overload, you may register for the overload NUS CLS module in Round 3.
3. Alternatively you may also register for the NUS CLS module(s) via ModReg@EduRec in Rounds 1 to 3.
4. For NUS CLS modules with tutorial sections, you are required to select your tutorial class via Select Tutorials/Labs rounds.
5. Please refer here for the NUS ModReg schedule on the timeline for tutorials selection.
